Wizard Stories

Spellbinding audiences since 2000!

Wizard Stories is a professional, touring storytelling company. Founded in 2000, Wizard Stories is rooted within the Education Sector, delivering a powerful portfolio of interactive educational workshops and performances. We believe the power of stories can release creativity and fire the imagination within of every child.

Wizard Stories' range of unique, interactive storytelling performances are highly participatory, with a strong focus on Speaking and Listening. Our sessions encourage each child to formulate their ideas, give them the opportunity express them as part of an audience and reveal clear and simple strategies to support them on their own literary journeys.

“Wizard Stories are exciting, engaging, flexible and fabulous! Our pupils really enjoyed their story making sessions and were immediately inspired to write their own stories.”

Emily Davies, Deputy Head Teacher,
Carterhatch Junior School, LB Enfield

Interactive Storytelling

Each Wizard Story is as unique as the group that meets to listen, imagine and create. All our sessions, run by professional storytellers, are highly interactive, fun and child-centred with a strong focus on Learning. We make dramatic differences to literacy levels by fostering the idea that reading and writing stories is an enjoyable, engaging creative activity.

Since 2000 Wizard Stories has engaged in thousands of storytelling performances, enthraling children and young people, inspiring a love of stories and imagination. Proving the age-old partnership between teller and listener - those moments when the air seems to thicken and time ceases to matter still thrive. Even in this busy world full of social media chatter, the power of the spoken word and the skill of a storyteller prevail.

“Captivating and enthusing my class for over ten years.
Wizard Stories make children WANT to WRITE!”

Louise Theodorou-Ditchburn, Oakdale Junior School, LB Redbridge

Awesome Authors

Imagine diving into a storyteller's mind and unlocking his storytelling secrets...

Awesome Authors allows your classes to become story-writing wizards!

Our sessions transform children's attitude to and aptitude for literacy. Through our experiential approach pupils are first immersed in their own narrative then, through shared drama skills and techniques, have the chance to live, breathe and then write their own story.

Each inspirational activity reveals another key element to story-writing, from clear characterisation to crazy conflicts, super settings to snazzy soundscapes.

An Awesome Authors residency breathes life into the mind of every child, igniting a fire in the imagination and a hunger for more, even in your most reluctant writers!

Wizard Stories will devise and conjure a tailored, bespoke series of workshops to suit your school, your targeted cohort or class. Our process consciously accommodates diverse learning styles and each workshop is fun, highly paced, engaging and inclusive.

"Awesome Authors is a writing Brilliant Boot Camp for your class!"

Tales from the Trenches

To mark the poignant and painful centenary of the 1914-1918 War, Wizard Stories brings the stories, the sounds and smells of conflict to your classroom.

Over 3 million men volunteered to serve in the British Armed Forces at the beginning of World War One. Between 1916, when the Conscription Act was passed, and the end of hostilities in 1918 a further 2.3 million were conscripted – one in four of the male population.

Tales from the Trenches looks past the facts and figures to reveal the everyday life of the typical Tommy in the trenches: waiting for 'The Big Push', the horrors of trench foot and even an unexpected game of football.

Wizard Stories' Tales from the Trenches gives context, colour and character to the events of The Great War.

Get Magna Carta!

A British Values Workshop.

It's Monday 15th June 1215. King John has lost the Magna Carta, the cornerstone of British Law!

With one thousand angry barons, knights and dukes eagerly sharpening their swords, King John desperately needs your class' (or classes') help to rewrite the meaning of Britishness and save the King's neck!

Get Magna Carta! allows your class to examine the concept of British Values - what is important, how we coexist, what makes us belong and how we are connected.

Wizard Stories' range of interactive projects are all child centred and place creativity and imagination at the heart of every session. We encourage pupils to question, challenge, acknowledge and respect.

“Engaging, exciting and educational. A stimulating approach to tackling a challenging issue. Wizard Stories strikes again!”

Jeremy Gibbard, Assistant Headteacher, Christchurch Primary, Ilford

I Know What You're Doing This Summer!

A Key Stage Transition Programme.

We all remember that dreadful sinking feeling in your stomach – you felt it all that summer – just thinking about moving up to the big school made your insides do a triple somersault.

Wizard Stories' Transition Programme demolishes the myths and debunks the horror stories and legends which often surround Key Stage Transition. Our carefully-crafted process encourages your pupils to share, confront and examine their fears and anxieties as they face the prospect of 'Transition Terror!'

By harnessing the power of analogy, Wizard Stories skilled raconteurs allow each child to acknowledge and embrace their journey thus far, and the metamorphosis ahead of them. Then, together we begin to construct coping strategies, share advice and help each individual visualise their personal path to achievement.

"Thank you for a great session. It is a remarkable skill to just step in cold and deliver something appropriate and interesting! Superb!"

Jane Batey, Meadow Wood School, Bushey
